Dolph Lundgren – action hero of the month on Showtime - the icon presents his movies on The Dolph Day April 24th

Showtime dedicates the following month to the Swedish action icon and karate legend Dolph Lundgren. It all kicks off with The Dolph Day on Sunday April 24th with the four Lundgren movies: Hidden Agenda, Dark Angel, The Minion, The Peacekeeper and a documentary about a day in his life. All hosted by Dolph Lundgren in person.

It's The Dolph Day on Showtime on Sunday April 24th. Four movies with the Swedish Hollywood star are presented by Dolph himself over the telephone from Los Angeles.

(Finland + 1 hour)

16:15 HIDDEN AGENDA

Dolph Lundgren plays the former government agent Jason Price who's at odds with the FBI hierarchy. He suspects he can't trust anyone, particularly after an important witness is slain by a sniper while on the witness stand during a secret grand jury session. He takes it upon himself to track down the sniper.

It was a difficult shooting for Dolph:

– The film was shot in Montreal in the winter in minus 20 degrees so it was hard to get the words out.

18:00 THE MINION

Dolph Lundgren stars in this futuristic action story as a member of a group of heavily armed holy men who guard a gateway to Hell that, if opened, will permit satanic forces to run loose in New York City.

– As research for the role I went up to an orthodox priest and told him a bit of the story. I think the priest was a bit frightened when I began to describe my philosophy about the dark forces...

19:35 A DAY IN THE LIFE OF: DOLPH

We'll follow Dolph Lundgren during a day designed for healthiness. The action hero shows how to compose a low-carb breakfast rich on protein, takes us to the gym where he works out with Ralph "mr Universe" Mueller, he tells all about his upcoming fitness book and brings us to Spain where he lives with his Swedish wife and two kids.

20:00 DARK ANGEL (aka I come in peace)

Dark Angel is one of Dolph's own favourite movies where he plays Jack Caine - a not-by-the books police officer investigating the death of several people, including his partner. Soon Jack is involved deep in drugs, murders and aliens.

– Dark Angel has a fun script plus the bad guy is for once bigger than me, Dolph laughs over the phone from L.A.

22:00 THE PEACEKEEPER

The Air Force pilot Frank, played by Dolph, is assigned to carry the President's black bag, a special briefcase loaded with a computer that the Executive in Chief can use to launch a nuclear war. After a terrorist attack the bag is lost and Frank now has to stop the terrorists before they use it.

– I injured my back during the takes so the people literally had to pull me up and put the gun in my hand when it was time for shooting.

Don't miss The Dolph Day on April 24th followed by a month of excitement on Showtime – or to put it like Dolph Lundgren:
